

THE TOILET PAPER

"The earth has gladly received the embraces of the sun"

ROLL 13S, TISSUE 8

KCECH, WEDNESDAY, 3/13/2012

SPRING EDITION

SPRING

Spring has finally arrived! (Well, not quite. Technically it doesn't hit until the 20th but that's a minor detail) The sun is out, the day is longer, and flowers have begun to bloom.

Spring in KCECH and at Penn brings with it a number of great events. St. Patrick's Day (see below) is this weekend. Formal (see the article to the right) is just around the corner. And Fling is right after that. Finals will appear and disappear. Seniors will graduate and then SUMMER!

If you are a senior, or leaving KCECH after this year, then submit a shout out at this link bit.ly/kceshout13

Shout outs will be accepted

Link of the Week

Kittens LIVE

Check out adorable kittens at this link. Live stream 24 / 7

[new.livestream.com/
FosterKittenCam/
TheCosmoFosters](http://new.livestream.com/FosterKittenCam/TheCosmoFosters) until the 20th of April and they will appear in the last edition of the TP on the 24th. No rules or restrictions other than no vulgarity and try to keep them under a hundred words.

And with summer just around the corner, I am sure many of you have plans already in full swing. But some of you are still looking. So if you know what are you doing with your summer, please submit at this link bit.ly/kcesummer13poll

To help your fellow residents out (or just to show off). If you are among those still trying to figure out their summer plans, you can view the responses to the poll above to help you get an idea at this link.

bit.ly/kcesummer13plans

ST. PATRICK'S DAY

This Sunday, the 17th, is St. Patrick's Day.

St. Patrick's life is clouded in

WONDERLAND: ADRENALINE BY LEWIS HEART

Alice was worried. The pool of red was growing without any sign of stopping. The boy did not seem to notice. Nor did anyone else.

She tried to tell the driver but he told her to sit back down. And when she told the other students, they either ignored her or said nothing was wrong.

When the bus finally reached the school, Alice ran ahead to tell the bus driver what had happened but he didn't notice anything either and promptly got off the bus, mumbling under his breath, "Kids are getting crazier and crazier."

Alice had no time to wonder why no one else seemed to notice what had happened as the strange boy was losing a large amount of blood. She ran to the back of the bus to find that the blood had stopped and the boy was still there.

Using only what she had in her bag, which consisted of her fuzzy sweater and her textbooks, she patched up his wound as best she could. With the sweater wrapped around his leg, it looked to be covered in fur as if he was some sort of animal.

She spent another hour with him trying to get him to wake up but nothing worked. So she decided to use the only other item with her that day. Adrenaline.

She took out the shot and prepared it quickly. She was well versed in using adrenaline as she was allergic to practically everything and so she had self administered it many times.

After injecting the boy with it, she watched carefully for a reaction. She knew that it should only take seconds. Yet still this boy did not move. He did not even twitch.

much obscurity but what is known is that he was kidnapped briefly at sixteen, escaping soon after. Upon returning home to Ireland, he began to teach Irish about Christianity using the shamrock (or clover) to represent the holy trinity.

Blue used to be the color associated with the day. But as the use of the shamrock increased, so did the use of green.

In the United States, St. Patrick's Day is not an official holiday but it may as well be given how widely recognized and celebrated it is throughout the states.

Be sure to wear green or prepare to be pinched.

MARCH
SUN	MON	TUE	WED	THU	FRI	SAT
Calendar Key KCECH Penn Philly & Beyond	11 StorySlam	12 WiCS Tech Work-shop	13 Women's Issues Study Break	14 Pi Day	15 Job and Internship Search Workshop	16 Field Day 2
17 St Patrick's Day Ceramics Work-shop	18 Middle Eastern Music	19 Star Watch	20 Documenting People and Places Dinner Discussion	21 Josh Wolf	22 Red Horse	23 Habitat for Humanity
24 La Casa Latina Festival VSA Culture Show	25 Dinner Discussion	26 Experiment Secrets	27 Study Break	28 Reza Negarestani	29 Formal	30 Fonthill Castle

Character of the Week

TYLER BROWN

Tyler Brown is the Oasis Commissary manager here at KCECH. He is a senior majoring in Math and Computer Science, and has lived in KCECH for all four years of his time at Penn. In his few precious moments of spare time, he enjoys listening to music, playing guitar, and playing computer, board, and card games. He is also the president of Penn Gamers and a member of Penn Aikido.

THE WEEK AHEAD: 3/14–3/20

3/14, Pi Day. Celebrate the magic of everyone's favorite irrational number, π ! 3.1415926535... Can you finish the rest of it before the day is out?

3/15, 1pm-- Job and Internship Search Workshop. Still looking for something to do this summer? Then head to McNeil 97

3/16, TBD-- PennPark - Field Day 2. Get ready to experience field day all over again!

3/17, St. Patrick's Day. Remember to wear green and make sure to sharpen your pinching fingers.

3/17, TBD-- Ceramics Workshop. Curious about how to make ceramic items? Or want to make your own? Join Kings Court English in this workshop.

3/20, TBD-- Dinner Discussion. Join Sid Deliwala, ESE department lab coordinator, in the PDR to discuss awesome ESE courses and projects.

FORMAL

When? March 29th.

Where? Camden Aquarium.

What? KCECH's annual formal dance.

That's right. In just over two weeks, Kings Court English will be hosting its annual formal!

This is one of the best events of the year so be sure to buy your tickets as soon as they go on sale. (Lest they sell out faster than Google I/O tickets)

Hosted at the Camden Aquarium, this year you will get to dance the night away with creatures of the sea. And maybe if you're lucky, you'll see Ariel. (If you're really lucky, you'll get to dance with her too)

Swag clothing is obviously required. A date is not. Be sure to talk to your floor's RA, GA, or manager for more information.

Tickets will go on sale soon.